New Initiative to Assist Individuals Find Family Members

Pittsburgh, PA ---- Parental Stress Center is initiating a monthly Family Find Support Group at the PSC Family Center beginning Wednesday, July 9, 2003 for anyone who is interested in searching for family members.

Penny Lang, Adult Educator, will facilitate the meetings. The support group will give information and encouragement while responding to the emotional, social and legal aspects of searching for a lost family member.

Registrants will dine together from 5:30 p.m. until 6:00 p.m. The meeting is scheduled from 6:00 p.m. until 7:30 p.m. Following meetings will be held the second Wednesday of each month at the same time. Child care will be provided.

The Parental Stress Center believes in the power of the family by strengthening the bonds within the family. The Parental Stress Center is a 28-year-old non-profit agency whose mission is to prevent child abuse and neglect by providing family-centered, strength-based and solution-focused education, counseling and supportive services to parents, caregivers, and others who provide love and support to children.

Anyone who is interested in joining this support group or any family who is in need of additional support and services should contact the Parental Stress Center at (412) 361-4800. To learn more about family centered programs and additional support services, visit our Website at www.pscfamily.net.
